

Lehrbuchtext „Mandy’s story”¹

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

- 5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?
- 10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. „She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.”
- 15 Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

- We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.
- 20

- So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.
- 25

- After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.
- 30

- I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.
- 35

¹ English G 2000, B5, CVK, 1. Auflage, Berlin, 2001

Welche Lesestile sind für die Bearbeitung der Aufgaben erforderlich?

Aufgabe	Lesestil	Textverständnis	Referenzniveau
1	global/ detailliert	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> allgemeine Vorstellung vom Inhalt muss aufgebaut werden bisweilen sind gewisse Details erforderlich 	4 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> detaillierte Erschließung von Informationen Verstehen komplexerer Informationen, die über den Text verteilt sind umfassendes und bewertendes Verstehen
2	selektiv	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> schlussfolgerndes Denken nicht erforderlich bestimmte Information auffinden 	1 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Auffinden von Informationen, die in der Aufgabe in identischer Weise formuliert sind Information ist über eine konkrete Textstelle erschließbar
3	selektiv, detailliert	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> verstehen von bestimmten Details und Zusammenhängen handelt sich um das Verstehen größerer Einheiten 	2 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Erschließung allein über die Textoberfläche ist nicht möglich Informationen über mehrere konkrete Textstellen möglich Verständnis wird durch eindeutige Schlüsselwörter unterstützt
4	detailliert	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> verstehen von bestimmten Details 	3 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Erschließung allein über Textoberfläche nicht möglich Schlussfolgern erforderlich Detailverstehen einer klar umgrenzten Textpassage erforderlich
5	detailliert	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> verstehen von bestimmten Details Wortschatz bzw. Paraphrasieren spielt eine Rolle 	2 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Erschließen über Textoberfläche nicht möglich Informationen über eine konkrete Textstelle möglich Verstehen wird durch Schlüsselwörter unterstützt
6	selektiv, detailliert	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> allgemeines Textverständnis nicht erforderlich verstehen von bestimmten Details 	5 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Erschließen der Informationen allein durch Textoberfläche nicht möglich Detailverstehen einer klar umgrenzten Textpassage erforderlich komplexere Informationen müssen sehr präzise und in Teilaspekten verstanden werden
7	selektiv, detailliert	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> verstehen von bestimmten Details handelt sich um das Verstehen größerer Einheiten 	3 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Erschließen allein über Textoberfläche nicht möglich erfordert ein Detailverstehen einer klar umgrenzten Textpassage
8	global/ detailliert	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> verstehen der wichtigsten Details und deren Zusammenhang verstehen der Gesamtaussage 	5 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Informationen müssen aus unterschiedlichen Textpassagen zusammengeführt werden Sprachgebung in den Textpassagen unterscheidet sich deutlich von der in der Aufgabe

Schülerarbeitsblatt (angeleitete Bearbeitung)

„Mandy’s story“ Worksheet Now do tasks 1 – 8. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In task 1 – 5 and 8 tick the correct answer (4). • In task 6 and 7 write the answer (.). 1) The story is about ... a) <input type="checkbox"/> teenage problems. b) <input type="checkbox"/> the friendship between two girls. c) <input type="checkbox"/> free time activities at the weekend. d) <input type="checkbox"/> taking drugs. 2) Heather ... a) <input type="checkbox"/> is the old man’s daughter. b) <input type="checkbox"/> is Brian’s girlfriend. c) <input type="checkbox"/> and Mandy do everything together. d) <input type="checkbox"/> doesn’t really like discos. 3) How did Heather and Mandy get to the disco? a) <input type="checkbox"/> They went there in her father’s car. b) <input type="checkbox"/> Someone took them in his car. c) <input type="checkbox"/> They had to walk till they reached the disco door. d) <input type="checkbox"/> There’s a special bus at the weekends – you just have to wait for ten minutes. 4) Why did the man take the girls all the way to the disco door? a) <input type="checkbox"/> It was on his way home. b) <input type="checkbox"/> They asked him because it was very cold that night. c) <input type="checkbox"/> He had a daughter himself and wanted the girls to reach the disco safely. d) <input type="checkbox"/> He was one of the girls’ dad. 5) When they entered the disco ... a) <input type="checkbox"/> Mandy and Heather had a few cigarettes. b) <input type="checkbox"/> both agreed to come back later. c) <input type="checkbox"/> there were already a lot of people there. d) <input type="checkbox"/> Mandy told the DJ to play a slow song. 6) What happened after two slow songs? . Name 3 things. a) _____ b) _____ c) _____ 7) When and why did Mandy go home? . _____ _____ _____ 8) Which sentence summarizes the story best? a) <input type="checkbox"/> A teenage girl is worried because she left her best friend alone and maybe endangered her life. b) <input type="checkbox"/> Two boys want to make two girls take drugs. c) <input type="checkbox"/> Young girls shouldn’t go to discos alone. d) <input type="checkbox"/> It’s better to leave your best friend alone than take drugs.	Some help  ➤ You should find out which sentence covers the whole story and not only one aspect. ➤ Read those passages again where you can find the key-words. You should underline the correct one. ➤ Find the passage and watch out for the words car, bus, walk. Underline what you can find. Then find out who the driver is. ➤ It must be the same passage. So read it again and underline what you get to know about the man. ➤ Find the passage when they arrived at the disco underline what they did. ➤ Find the phrase „after two slow songs” and mark 3 things that happened in the text with 1, 2, 3. ➤ Find the situation in the text. Find a word or a phrase that tells you when she left. Then try to find the reason. Underline the information. ➤ Make sure you understand every statement. Is there a word you don’t know? Can you guess what it means? ➤ The sentence should summarize the whole story and not only a part of it.
--	---

Schülerarbeitsblatt (nicht angeleitet)„Mandy’s story”*Worksheet

Now do tasks 1 – 8.

- In task 1 – 5 and 8 tick the correct answer (4).
- In task 6 and 7 write the answer (.).

1) The story is about ...

- e) teenage problems.
- f) the friendship between two girls.
- g) free time activities at the weekend.
- h) taking drugs.

2) Heather ...

- e) is the old man’s daughter.
- f) is Brian’s girlfriend.
- g) and Mandy do everything together.
- h) doesn’t really like discos.

3) How did Heather and Mandy get to the disco?

- e) They went there in her father’s car.
- f) Someone took them in his car.
- g) They had to walk till they reached the disco door.
- h) There’s a special bus at the weekends – you just have to wait for ten minutes.

4) Why did the man take the girls all the way to the disco door?

- a) It was on his way home.
- b) They asked him because it was very cold that night.
- c) He had a daughter himself and wanted the girls to reach the disco safely.
- d) He was one of the girls’ dad.

5) When they entered the disco ...

- e) Mandy and Heather had a few cigarettes.
- f) both agreed to come back later.
- g) there were already a lot of people there.
- h) Mandy told the DJ to play a slow song.

6) What happened after two slow songs? . Name 3 things.

- a) _____
- b) _____
- c) _____

7) When and why did Mandy go home? .

8) Which sentence summarizes the story best?

- a) A teenage girl is worried because she left her best friend alone and maybe endangered her life.
- b) Two boys want to make two girls take drugs.
- c) Young girls shouldn’t go to discos alone.
- d) It’s better to leave your best friend alone than take drugs.

Lösungen

Aufgabe 1

„Mandy’s story” Text

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?

10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.’

Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

15 We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.

20 So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.

25 After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.

I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.

1) The story is about ...

- a) teenage problems.
- b) the friendship between two girls.
- c) free time activities at the weekend.
- d) taking drugs.

Aufgabe 2

„Mandy’s story“ Text

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?

10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.’

Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

15 We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.

20 So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.

25 After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.

I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.

2) Heather ...

- a) is the old man’s daughter.
- b) is Brian’s girlfriend.
- c) and Mandy do everything together.
- d) doesn’t really like discos.

Aufgabe 3

„Mandy’s story“ Text

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?

10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.’

Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

15 We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.

20 So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.

25 After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.

I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.

3) How did Heather and Mandy get to the disco?

- a) They went there in her father’s car.
- b) Someone took them in his car.
- c) They had to walk till they reached the disco door.
- d) There’s a special bus at the weekends – you just have to wait for ten minutes.

Aufgabe 4

„Mandy’s story“ Text

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?

10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.’

Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

15 We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.

20 So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.

25 After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.

I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.

4) Why did the man take the girls all the way to the disco door?

- a) It was on his way home.
- b) They asked him because it was very cold that night.
- c) He had a daughter himself and wanted the girls to reach the disco safely.
- d) He was one of the girls’ dad.

Aufgabe 5

„Mandy’s story“ Text

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?

10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.’

Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

15 We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.

20 So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.

25 After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.

I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.

5) When they entered the disco ...

- a) Mandy and Heather had a few cigarettes.
- b) both agreed to come back later.
- c) the dance floor was already crowded.
- d) Mandy told the DJ to play a slow song.

Aufgabe 6

„Mandy’s story“ Text

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?

10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.’

Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

15 We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.

20 So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.

25 After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.

I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.

6) What happened after two slow songs? . Name 3 things.

a) They went outside.

b) Brian pulled out a little bag of pills.

c) He offered us some.

Aufgabe 7„Mandy’s story“ Text

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?

10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.’

Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

15 We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.

20 So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.

25 After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.

I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.

7) When and why did Mandy go home? . Mögliche Antwort:

Mandy went home and left Heather alone with the boys when they wanted her to try some of the pills. But she didn’t want any drugs.

Aufgabe 8

„Mandy’s story“ Text

I think maybe I did something really stupid. I’ve got this friend – I’ll call her Heather. Well, Heather and I do everything together. We go to school together, listen to the same music, have all the same interests – we even go out with boys together.

5 It was like any other Friday. This time the disco was in Little Missenden, about six miles from where Heather and I both live. You see, we live in the country, miles from everything. Most kids in this area hitchhike when they want to get somewhere, and that’s what Heather and I did last night. I know it’s dangerous, but what else can we do?

10 We only had to wait about ten minutes – and that was good, because it was really cold. This car came along with an old guy in it. I mean, he was 40 or something. But nice – he took us all the way to the disco door, although it was a few more miles for him. While driving, he told us about his daughter. She’s about your age. I hope somebody would do the same for her.’

Anyway, we got inside. There weren’t many people there, and things were kind of quiet. Heather and I decided to go for a walk and come back later when there would be more people there.

15 We walked around for about an hour, had a few cigarettes. We were getting kind of cold, so we went back inside. There were a lot more people. Heather and I danced a little. Then this great guy came and asked Heather to dance with him. ‘No problem,’ I told her.

20 So then this other guy – I think he was the friend of a guy who was dancing with Heather – came and asked me to dance. He wasn’t as attractive as the first boy, but he had a great smile, so I said yes. We danced for a long time. Then the DJ played a slow song. Brian – that was the boy’s name – put his arm around me and pulled me close. Ian, Heather’s partner, did the same with her.

25 After two slow songs, Brian said, ‘Why don’t we go outside?’ I didn’t feel good about it, but I said, ‘OK, but only with Heather.’ So all four of us went outside. I thought they would try to get a kiss or something, but I wasn’t ready for what happened next. Brian pulled out a little bag of pills and offered us some. I said no, but Heather wanted to try the stuff. ‘A new experience’, she said. ‘Come on, Mandy. It’ll be fun.’ ‘Yeah, Mandy, don’t be such a goody-goody,’ Brian added.

I didn’t even have to think about it: I told them I just didn’t want any drugs and walked away. Heather stayed, and I have no idea what happened after. It’s Saturday night, and Heather still hasn’t phoned. I’ve got a guilty conscience, but I’m afraid to call her house. If she isn’t there, her parents would just worry.

8) Which sentence summarizes the story best?

- a) A teenage girl is worried because she left her best friend alone and maybe endangered her life.
- b) Two boys want to make two girls take drugs.
- c) Young girls shouldn’t go to discos alone.
- d) It’s better to leave your best friend alone than take drugs.